STUDY MBBS IN EGYPT

MBBS admission in Egypt has become a new destination for overseas study. Egypt is known to be the third-highest population country in the Africa region. Egypt's heartland, the Nile River valley and delta, was the home of one of the principal civilizations of the ancient Middle East and, like Mesopotamia farther east, was the site of one of the world's earliest urban and literate societies.

The modern history of Egyptian medical education begins in 1827. Its curriculum development process was guided by the recommendations of a national symposium on innovation in medical education held in Al-Fayoum, southeast of Cairo, at the beginning of that year. Currently, admission to Egyptian higher education institutions, including medical schools, is managed centrally by a national coordination office. The male-to-female ratio for admission and graduation is almost balanced, with an average of 10,000 physicians graduating annually from Egyptian medical schools. To date, Egyptian medical schools have followed the British model, comprising a five-year program of undergraduate medical education. This system features a clear preclinical-clinical dichotomy and (in Egypt) takes English as the language of instruction.

A Bachelor of Medicine and Surgery (MBBCh) is awarded upon graduation, but graduates must attend 2 year internship program before obtaining their license to practice as general practitioners. Almost all medical schools in Egypt have well-established teaching hospitals, and most confined the clinical training of students to these hospitals. The universities here are approved by the WHO, MCI WFME, ECFMG, UNESCO and Medical Councils of many countries such as India, America, the UK, etc. The universities in Egypt also offer scholarships to deserving students. The students choose MBBS in Egypt because they will experience traditional cultures of Egypt, along with their studies.

Career Marg services are very fair and transparent and I have personally got wonderful experience. Mr. Waseem always responded to my calls and what's up messages and kept me posted on MBBS admission in Bangladesh for my nephew after alignment and assured the best college for him. I really appreciate his efforts and interest for giving priority to send MBBS students to the colleges on time at start of session. I recommend his consultancy for those students who ar willing to go to abroad for medical courses specially in Bangaladesh which is best and cheapest for Indian Students who qualifies NEET UG. Thanks a lot Waseem Bhai and all the best for future services.
